READINGS -SECOND SUNDAY OF ADVENT

LECTIONARY #162

READING 1 ISAIAH 2:1-5

This is what Isaiah, son of Amoz, saw concerning Judah and Jerusalem.
In days to come,
the mountain of the LORD's house
shall be established as the highest mountain
and raised above the hills.
All nations shall stream toward it;
many peoples shall come and say:
"Come, let us climb the LORD's mountain,
to the house of the God of Jacob,
that he may instruct us in his ways,
and we may walk in his paths."
For from Zion shall go forth instruction,
and the word of the LORD from Jerusalem.
He shall judge between the nations,
and impose terms on many peoples.
They shall beat their swords into plowshares
and their spears into pruning hooks;
one nation shall not raise the sword against another,
nor shall they train for war again.
O house of Jacob, come,
let us walk in the light of the Lord!

READING 2 ROMANS 13:11-14

Brothers and sisters:
You know the time; it is the hour now for you to awake from sleep.
For our salvation is nearer now than when we first
believed;
the night is advanced, the day is at hand.
Let us then throw off the works of darkness
and put on the armor of light;

let us conduct ourselves properly as in the day,
not in orgies and drunkenness,
not in promiscuity and lust,
not in rivalry and jealousy.
But put on the Lord Jesus Christ,
and make no provision for the desires of the flesh.

GOSPEL

MATTHEW 24:37-44

Jesus said to his disciples:
"As it was in the days of Noah,
so it will be at the coming of the Son of Man.
In those days before the flood,
they were eating and drinking,
marrying and giving in marriage,
up to the day that Noah entered the ark.
They did not know until the flood came and carried them all away.
So will it be also at the coming of the Son of Man.
Two men will be out in the field;
one will be taken, and one will be left.
Two women will be grinding at the mill;
one will be taken, and one will be left.
Therefore, stay awake!
For you do not know on which day your Lord will come.
Be sure of this: if the master of the house had known the hour of night when the thief was coming,
he would have stayed awake
and not let his house be broken into.
So too, you also must be prepared,
for at an hour you do not expect, the Son of Man
will come."

SAINTS OF THE WEEK

Dec. 8 The Immaculate Conception of the Blessed Virgin Mary
Dec. 9 Saint Juan Diego Cuauhtlatoatzin

Monsignor Tom's Musings

Isn't it interesting that tomorrow's great Feast of the Immaculate Conception, which occurs in Advent, actually presents us with the Gospel story of the Annunciation. We might honestly conclude that somebody confused the happening of the Blessed Virgin's immaculate conception in the womb of her mother, St Anne, with the story of Jesus being conceived in the womb of his mother, Mary. It once puzzled me. But, in St. Luke's Gospel, we hear the dialogue that changed the course of human history — a meeting between heaven and earth, between God's messenger and a humble young woman of Nazareth. Now we begin to see the relationship between these two great Marian feasts: no confusion, no mistake- just God at work in His amazing way.

Hopefully, this presents us with a better understanding of why the Church proclaimed the doctrine of the Immaculate Conception as one of its two infallible teachings. Here, the entire plan of salvation quietly enters the world, not with force or spectacle, but through invitation... and through a response of faith. God already knew what Mary's response would be; hence, his great gift to preserve her from the Original Sin.

"The angel Gabriel was sent by God to a virgin named Mary." This already tells us something important: God comes to us intentionally. The Incarnation is not some accidental happening. The Savior's coming is not random. God moves deliberately, purposefully, lovingly; and God chooses a setting that no one would have expected: not a palace, not the Temple, not a center of power — but a small home in Nazareth.

This is the first great Advent lesson of this Gospel: God often enters our lives quietly, unexpectedly, and in the places we least anticipate. Mary doesn't seek out Gabriel. She doesn't go looking for a mystical experience. She is simply living her life faithfully. And into that ordinary moment, God speaks through his angel.

Gabriel greets her: "Hail, full of grace, the Lord is with you." He is not complimenting Mary; he is revealing the truth of who she already is: a woman whose whole life is open to God, receptive to His grace, and ready for His call. But Luke tells us that Mary is "troubled" by this greeting. Even holy people can feel fear or confusion when God interrupts their plans. Holiness is not the absence of uncertainty. Holiness is the willingness to listen in the midst of it. Gabriel comforts her: "Do not be afraid." And then Gabriel presents a mission greater than anything Mary could have imagined:

"You will conceive in your womb and bear a son, and you shall name him Jesus. He will be great and will be called Son of the Most High... and His kingdom will have no end."

Mary's question is simple and honest: "How can this be?" She doesn't doubt God's power — she simply doesn't yet understand her part in His plan. This distinction matters. Zechariah doubted; Mary discerned. Doubt closes the heart; discernment opens it. Gabriel explains that the conception will be the work of the Holy Spirit. And Mary will not carry this mission alone. Gabriel gives her a sign of encouragement: her relative Elizabeth, once thought barren, is already six months pregnant, "for nothing will be impossible for God." This is another Advent truth: God's promises are always accompanied by God's help. What He asks of us, He strengthens us to fulfill it.

Mary's response is one of the most beautiful and courageous sentences ever spoken: "Behold, I am the handmaid of the Lord. Let it be done to me according to your word."

This is not passive acceptance. Mary is not resigned or uncertain. This is active, wholehearted surrender to God's will. It is the "yes" that reverses Eve's "no." It is the opening of the door through which the Word becomes flesh. It is the faith that makes Christmas possible. In Mary, we see the perfect model of Advent. This season is not merely waiting; it is expectant trust. Advent is not passive; it is receptive. Advent is not full of noise; it is listening for God's voice in the quiet places of our life.

Mary teaches us how to prepare for Christ's coming — not just remembering His birth, but inviting Him into our own hearts, our own homes, and our own fears and hopes. Like Mary, we may not fully understand where God is leading us. We may see our limitations more clearly than our strengths. We may feel unworthy, unready, or overwhelmed. But God does not choose us because we are perfect. He chooses us because He loves us — and because He desires to work through us.

The Annunciation story reminds us of one fundamental truth: God's plan for the world involves human cooperation. He does not force His way in. He invites; He calls; He waits for a "yes." The world was changed by such a "yes." Mary's openness allowed Christ to be born in her; our openness allows Christ to be born in us.

As we continue our Advent journey, let's pray for hearts that listen as Mary listened—hearts that trust as Mary trusted, and hearts that are ready to receive Christ with the same faith, humility, and courage. May her words become our own prayer this season: "Let it be done to me according to your word."
